

Nixon Steps Up Action On Integration

By MARK BROWN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration, following what its civil rights chief says was "our game plan all along," has taken spectacular legal action against hardcore Southern school segregation.

Suits naming Mississippi state education officials and 27 school districts in three other Southern states were filed simultaneously by the Justice Department Thursday.

Jerris Leonard, the assistant attorney general for civil rights, said suits will be filed soon to desegregate 76 more districts that still maintain separate educational facilities for blacks and whites.

The push follows a virtual absence in the past four months of federal court activity while administration officials attempted to talk Southern educators into doing away with dual systems voluntarily.

The switch to sweet talk and President Nixon's emphasis, in his March school desegregation message, on good faith negotiations may have led some Southerners to believe the heat was off. However, with classes due to open in but seven weeks, Leonard proclaimed an end to negotiations.

"This has been our game plan all along," Leonard told reporters.

He acknowledged that some Southern districts will experience difficulties in meeting a September desegregation deadline, but said administrative problems "will not be an acceptable legal argument" for delay.

Thursday's suits seek to dismantle a total of 46 dual school systems: 19 in Mississippi, 10 in South Carolina, nine in Arkansas and eight in Florida.

Still facing legal action are 48 districts in Texas, seven in Georgia, seven in Tennessee, six in Florida, five in Virginia, two in Mississippi and one in Louisiana. The Justice Department refused to name those districts before suits are filed.

In addition, 14 segregated districts remain in North Carolina, but the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People Legal Defense Fund has filed a statewide suit there, the department said.

Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, noting that administration efforts to negotiate voluntary desegregation agreements without court action had been successful in about 120 districts, said Thursday's filings and those upcoming "clean up the remnants" of those few districts which could not or would not come into compliance.

The Thursday suits affect an estimated 95,000 black and 100,000 white students in 361 schools in the 46 districts. About 650 districts in the four states already have desegregated or will be desegregated by this fall.

The mid-summer resurgence of legal action against the hold-out Southern districts caused Gov. Lester Maddox of Georgia to charge the government has set differing desegregation standards along economic and geographical lines.

Rockefeller Bolstering 'Image'

By ROBERT SHAW
Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller appears to be trying to demonstrate to Arkansas voters in this election year that his administration is good for the state's image as well as for its welfare.

He seems to want to show that he is not only a man who can parlez vous with the French in their own language, as he did as head of a delegation of governors on a tour of France earlier this year, but also a man who can gain the ear of the President, as he did for 30 minutes at the White House Thursday.

Which reflects well on Arkansas, he has indicated.

Rockefeller came back from the French tour saying that Arkansans could take pride that their governor headed the delegation. He also said that while all the French knew of Arkansas was the 1957 integration

Rogers Asks Europe for Mideast Help

By ARTHUR L. GAVSHON
Associated Press Writer
LONDON (AP) — U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers was flying to London from the Far East today to seek pledges of more active support from Britain's new government for American policies in the Middle East and Asia.

Two-day policy talks with Prime Minister Edward Heath. Foreign Secretary Sir Alec Douglas-Home and other high officials will range over the entire field of foreign affairs.

But the dominant topics undoubtedly will be the deepening Arab-Israeli crisis, the implications of the U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam and the Conservative government's plans to work more closely with the white supremacist regimes of South Africa and Rhodesia.

In the Middle East and the Far East, Heath's government has already provided evidence of its resolve to back the Americans more vigorously than Harold Wilson's Labor government did.

In return, the Conservatives hope they will be able to count on U.S. understanding, if not overt support, for the intentions to resume the sale of certain defensive weapons to the apartheid government of South Africa.

In the Middle East, the Conservatives have displayed less inclination to conciliate President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt than Wilson's government did. Their attitude was expressed recently by Julian Amery, an influential minister, who wrote: "The objective of western policy is not only to achieve peace between Israel and her neighbors but to achieve it under conditions which remove the threat of Soviet predominance in the Middle East."

This appears to conform exactly with President Nixon's own thinking as understood here.

On Southeast Asia, Rogers has already received official word of British plans to preserve a military presence in Singapore and Malaysia through the 1970s as part of a five-power Commonwealth force. This was conveyed by Anthony Royle, a Foreign Office minister, at the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization meeting which Rogers attended in Manila.

Douglas-Home intends to advise Rogers of the precise limits of Britain's readiness to participate in the Commonwealth force, which has been designed partly to raise local morale during a period of American retrenchment.

A trickier situation confronts the two foreign ministers over South Africa.

The United States and Canada started the action that led the U.N. Security Council in 1963 to call for a world ban on the supply of arms to segregationist South Africa. One year later the Wilson government implemented the embargo.

Now the Conservatives want to resume weapons sales needed for the defense of the South African cape sea routes used by tankers carrying Persian Gulf oil to Europe. Douglas-Home has asserted that these sea lanes are menaced by Russia's ever-swelling submarine fleet.

Any such British move would attract embittered protests from most Asian and black African states, and the United States would find it difficult openly to support it. Nevertheless the British hope to ensure, at the very least, a passive attitude on the part of Washington.

crisis at Little Rock Central High School, he left them the idea that Arkansas was a state on the move.

Rockefeller has said several times that having a governor who is a member of the same party carries with it certain benefits.

Rockefeller also is chairman of the Southern Governors Conference, and is the leader of the conference's efforts to form an interstate agreement to combat pollution, a fact that he has proudly pointed out on several occasions.

If he threatened to fire his public relations staff two weeks ago, the governor seems to have gotten a lot of mileage from it since then.

A group of newsmen from Arkansas flew with Rockefeller to Washington a week ago to record in word and pictures not only Arkansas' featured contribution to the American Folklore Festival, but also Rockefeller being honored by the Smithsonian Institution and a smiling governor accompanied by congressmen visiting among Arkansas craftsmen at the festival.

Here's Odd Case of Insomniac Who Works in a Sleep-Shop

By Frank Carey
AP Science Writer
HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — "An insomniac who works in a sleep-shop? Come now, doc—you've got to be kidding."

"Cross my heart and hope to die—and may Hippocrates haunt me if I'm fibbing," grinned Dr. James D. Frost Jr., a young Baylor University Medical School neurophysiologist who is doing research on how people sleep—or don't sleep.

"Come on upstairs to the sleep-lab, and I'll introduce you to him."

And so, as midnight approached and most of the lights were out in famed Methodist hospital, the doctor and the newsmen went up four flights to an eerily hushed laboratory complex where they met Lester Jordan, 26, a 230-pounder, six footer.

Indeed he is an insomniac—"ever since I was a kid."

And indeed he does work in a Houston sleep-shop—"where we sell darned good beds, but even they don't completely help me."

Remember his name—Lester Jordan—because he might wind up in the annals of medicine as one of the pioneer participants in research that could provide new aid to millions of insomnia sufferers throughout the world.

The affliction is widespread, and it has broad ramifications:

—Insomnia besets at least one out of three Americans at some time during their lives.

—Insomniacs account for a major proportion of the $500 million which Americans spend each year on hypnotic, sedative and tranquilizing drugs legally obtained only by prescription—drugs that are potentially perilous if over-used.

And this doesn't count the additional millions of dollars spent on over-the-counter, nonprescription items widely promoted as sleep inducers.

—While insomniacs collectively consume tons of drugs, others try methods ranging from induced hypnosis and self-hypnosis to gymnastics or yoga exercises.

Still others employ mechanical devices, including "fluidized," vibrating, or automatically massaging beds; electrical head-warmers and "feet-warmers"; "anti-snoring" devices for their mates; and various kinds of bedside soundmaking devices designed to cancel out other sounds.

A young woman in Falls Church, Va., for example, reports she can't get to sleep unless she first uses her hair-dryer. She benefits, she says, from both its warmth and soothing whirr.

Other insomniacs try such techniques as taking a bubble-bath and playing the harpsichord before bedtime; taking long automobile drives around the countryside when virtually no one else is up but the owls; telephoning fellow-insomniacs and trying to talk one another to sleep, or knocking off a couple of fast Martinis by the dawn's early light.

Insomnia comes in different varieties.

One form appears directly related to the aging process, and is characterized in elderly folks by frequent awakenings.

Another form is called "acute situational insomnia," usually a temporary thing resulting from such as "business or work problems, or students worried about being drafted," said Dr. Anthony Kales, director of the UCLA sleep research and treatment facility.

Another large group of sufferers—possibly up to 70 per cent of the total—is composed of individuals with chronic emotional or psychological problems, ranging from mild to severe, but short of outright mental derangement.

Normal sleep, studies reveal, consists of a kind of rhythmic cyclic pattern of four separate stages—totaling about 90 minutes—in which a person progressively slips, without dreaming, from very light to deep sleep—followed by a period of dreaming before the cycle begins again.

The dream stage of each cycle is detectable by rapid unconscious movements of the sleeper's eyes—as though he were watching a movie or television. This REM (for "rapid-eye-movements") stage, plus the period of deepest sleep, are considered the most important and desirable stages.

UP to now, according to Kales and some other sleep-researchers, the average doctor has been too quick to prescribe sleeping pills for insomniacs in general.

While barbiturate and even nonbarbiturate drugs of the hypnotic class can quickly bring on oblivion, Kales says they tend to suppress the apparently important REM sleep stages.

And when a patient seeks to "kick" the sleeping pill habit—or forgets to take his normal dose—he may get violent "REM rebounds"—a severe catch-up type of dreaming characterized by horrible nightmares.

The California psychiatrist says his team has had promising, though still tentative, results in helping maintain REM sleep in insomniacs by using the non-barbiturate hypnotic chloral hydrate—a pill form of the so-called "knock-out drops" used to convert a shot of whiskey into a "Mickey Finn," at least in the movies.

But, he says, while the drug puts people to sleep—and lets them dream—its maximum effectiveness is limited to about a week.

Another, possibly more promising, method involves use of either a relatively mild tranquilizer to allay anxiety, or a new drug called flurazepam, the latter designed to help keep the patient asleep. Both drugs are non-barbiturates.

Meanwhile, back at the Baylor sleep-monitoring laboratory, where research is supported by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, mattress salesman Jordan was being prepared for his scientific beddy-bay.

One of Dr. Frost's aides was taping a complex of electrodes to Jordan's scalp, the sides of his eye-sockets and his neck. From the electrodes, varied-colored wires converged down the patient's head in pony-tail fashion.

Later, this strange nightcap was hooked to a bedside electroencephalograph—or "EEG brain-wave machine." EEG machines and associated equipment continuously record brain activity as squiggly lines on graph paper.

They tattle on teeth-grinding, restless tossing, blanket-wrestling—even staring at the ceiling. As one researcher says they paint "a roadmap of the night."

Such a skull-cap had been fitted onto another Baylor insomniac volunteer, a psychology student at a Houston college.

When the volunteers, who are paid $7 a night, were bedded down, the EEG machine went to work.

The pen on the sleep-shop man's record started briskly tracing squiggles.

"He's jumping between being awake and being asleep—and back again," said Frost. "And, look at those big eye movements! But he may be just staring at the ceiling."

Meanwhile, the psychology student should have been lightly snoozing, but there were signs of bodily muscular action.

"He's bouncing around in bed," said Frost's aide. "He told me he'd been riding motorcycles all afternoon."

Frost reported later that it took the sleep-shop man 1 hour, 10 minutes to get into deep sleep and he woke up eight times during the night. The student slept well until about 6:30 a.m., but then he had had it.

In a telephone interview a few days later, insomniac Jordan was asked what he did to pass the time when he couldn't sleep.

"I do sculpture, write poetry or paint," he replied. "And I like to design things."

"What do you design?" he was asked.

"Mostly beds," he laughed. "In fact, just the other night, before the sleep-project ended at the hospital, I designed one having an automatic shutoff for a vibrator, a bed lamp and a radio, so a person wouldn't have to wake up to turn them off."

Execution of Wiser Is Stayed

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A formal stay of execution for James Wiser was issued Thursday by the Arkansas Supreme Court. Wiser was convicted of first-degree murder in Carroll County and sentenced to death in the Dec. 10, 1969 slaying of Jimmy Lou Roe, 14.

A stay of execution has also been issued for James E. Scott, who was sentenced in St. Francis County on a charge of raping a 15-year-old girl Aug. 23, 1969.

A stay is automatic when death cases are appealed. In addition, a moratorium has been declared on executing pending a U.S. Supreme Court decision on the constitutionality of capital punishment.

War-Limited Bill Up to Conference

WASHINGTON (AP) — A dozen members of Congress, split nearly down the middle, now hold the key to the fate of the Cooper-Church amendment to restrict U.S. actions in Cambodia.

The House left the controversial measure to the fate of a Senate-House conference committee when it refused Thursday to order conferees to support the amendment to the foreign military sales bill.

The Senate passed the amendment, named for Sens. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., and Frank Church, D-Idaho, two weeks ago after almost two months of debate.

House supporters of Cooper-Church reached a high-water mark in votes for antiwar proposals in their chamber, but nevertheless lost in a key 237-153 vote during a session marked by parliamentary confusion and Democratic charges that the White House twisted arms of doubtful members.

Indications point to a tough fight in conference, with all five House members against curbing presidential power in Cambodia, but the Senate representatives overwhelmingly for the amendment.

The Senate members line up 6 to 1 in favor of Cooper-Church and most also have little use for the military sales bill which both the Nixon administration and House conferees want extended.

"My impression is that the Senate is going to hang tough," said Rep. Donald M. Fraser, D-Minn., who described the Thursday scene as "a typical ramrod operation of the House."

Pennsylvania Democrat Thomas E. Morgan, chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, who will lead the House contingent, suggested to reporters a long conference was on the horizon. "I would say 30 days ought to do it," Morgan added.

In Thursday's vote all five of the House conferees joined in killing a motion by Rep. Donald W. Riegle Jr., R-Mich., which would have instructed them in advance to accept Cooper-Church.

Conference rules specify a majority of the conferees from both branches must agree on action taken. They can modify, accept or eliminate Cooper-Church and other points of difference in the bill but whatever action is taken then is subject to final approval by both the full House and Senate.

As drafted by the Senate, the Cooper-Church amendment provides no funds can be used for U.S. troops and advisers or for mercenaries from other nations in Cambodia.

U.S. Suits Against 9 Schools

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Justice Department filed suit Thursday to force desegregation of nine school districts in Arkansas and U.S. District Judge Oren Harris of El Dorado immediately ordered the districts to develop plans for the "immediate conversion of their school systems to unitary, nondiscriminatory school systems."

Districts named in the suit were Cotton Plant, England, Hazen, Helena, West Helena, Holly Grove, Wabbaseka, Watson Chapel, Bradley and Thornton.

The suit against Bradley and Thornton was filed at Little Rock. The other seven were named in a suit filed in Little Rock.

Harris ordered the districts to submit their desegregation plans to the Office of Education of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. He said districts that reach agreement on such plans with HEW should report to him by July 24. Where no agreement is reached, the districts and HEW are ordered to file, by July 31, suggested plans for operating unitary systems.

Any necessary hearings will be held during the week of Aug. 10, Harris said.

The Justice Department litigation sought an order from U.S. District Court to require the districts to seek necessary technical assistance from HEW for the preparation of desegregation plans to be implemented in the next school year.

The suit, signed by Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, was not a surprise.

Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller revealed in April that the Justice Department was planning to bring action against 49 school districts in Arkansas for failure to comply with the Civil Rights Act of 1964. The Justice Department,

Asks Probe of 'Tiger Cages'

By BILL NEIKIRK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A conservative Democrat who was among President Nixon's chief defenders in the latest Senate battle over Southeast Asia called today for an investigation of the reported use of tiger cages to hold political prisoners in South Vietnam.

"Shocking and abhorrent," Sen. Robert C. Byrd said of the reports which surfaced after a congressional committee's trip to Con Son prison.

If the reports are true, the West Virginian said in a speech prepared for the Senate, the United States should withdraw any financial aid which contributes to the conditions.

And, he said, "our government should use every means at its disposal to compel the government in Saigon to treat prisoners humanely."

At the same time, Byrd called for pressure on Hanoi to gain humane treatment of U.S. troops held prisoner by the North Vietnamese. He compared the plight of prisoners in both Vietnams as focal points of compassion from the U.S. public.

Byrd said Americans are shocked by reports of the tiger cages, shackling and beating of prisoners, and poor food served the inmates.

Byrd, a floor leader in the fight to resist limitations on President Nixon's powers in Cambodia, joined a widening group calling for an investigation into the Con Son reports.

The prison conditions came to light when two congressmen, Reps. Augustus F. Hawkins, D-Calif., and William R. Anderson, D-Tenn., visited the prison last week.

Anderson, D-Tenn., visited the prison last week.

In Geneva, the International Commission of Jurists called for an inquiry into the allegations.

ment, at Rockefeller's request, held off on the suit to give the districts time to comply voluntarily.

The list was later reduced to 39 and all but the nine named Thursday convinced HEW they would comply.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

ADULTS: THIS IS HOW YOU SOUND TO CHILDREN

Dear Helen:

Picture if you can a scene where you and your adult friend meet me and my adult friend in a supermarket. The conversation:

Helen: Janet, meet Mrs. X.

Janet: This is Mrs. Y.

Helen: Mrs. Y is so pretty. Look at those curls!

Janet: Thank you, but YOUR friend Mrs. X is beautiful too—so neatly dressed!

Helen: You'd never believe she doesn't hang her clothes up. Her house is a mess.

Janet: Mrs. Y is sloppy too. Her husband spoils her.

Helen: It's a shame about Mrs. X's scar, but probably make-up will cover it.

Janet: Yes, it does make her a little self-conscious perhaps, but think of Mrs. Y's weight problem!

...And on and on, while the two subjects of conversation are standing there listening!

Now, replace Mrs. Y and Mrs. X for children of the two talkers. How often we adults discuss them as if they weren't there, revealing personal and embarrassing things, or maybe puffing them up with false praise!

Don't parents realize that kids can hear? They should be allowed dignity, privacy and pride. Even positive comments can do harm, for a little girl who expects everyone to tell her parents how beautiful she is will soon start playing to an audience and end up spoiled and conceited.

How can people be made to realize children are human?—JANET

Dear Janet:

It isn't easy, getting people to listen to themselves, but letters like yours will certainly jar a few out of their bad habits. Thanks for reminding us.—H.

Dear Helen:

Do you think a woman who wears mini skirts and shorts above her knee, and bright red outfits, and drinks beer from the can, and smokes cigarettes, and kisses her husband in public, is fit to raise three small children? Why, she even flirts with other men!

I think trash like her should have her kids taken away, as her husband isn't any better. They'll grow up as depraved as their parents, otherwise.—NOT A PRUDE

Dear Prude: (Scratch "Not A") Why don't you go join the Harper Valley PTA?—H.

Dear Helen:

This is for the man who wondered how to rid his garden of gophers and moles. Use highway flares. Expose the hole, light the flare and insert it in the opening. Then cover with dirt. The flare will not go out, but it will smoke out the little varmints.—Mr. A. M.

Dear Helen:

Camphor balls or moth crystals scattered around your plants will discourage moles, gophers, rabbits, etc. If you dissolve or soak in water and sprinkle the leaves you'll have even better results.—GARDENER

Dear Helen:

I think Mrs. G. M. is feeling a little sorry for herself concerning racism. (Uncle Remus and the tar babies.) What happened to the days when people could laugh at themselves? Now they're searching with fine-toothed combs for anything they can take offense at.

I'm one of those "Damn Yankees" and my best friend is a "Georgia cracker." Italians kid each other about being dagos or wops. Chinese are "chinks", Indians "red skins". Jews make endless jokes about themselves.

"Discrimination should be wiped out, yes, but let's don't get edgy over trifles.—DAMN YANKEE

Reserves Added to All-Star

By DAVE O'HARA
Associated Press Sports Writer
BOSTON (AP) — Third baseman Brooks Robinson of the Baltimore Orioles and outfielder Tony Oliva of the Minnesota Twins were added to the American League All-Star squad today as the 28-player roster was filled for the annual mid season classic with the National League next Tuesday.

Robinson, beaten out by Minnesota's Harmon Killebrew for a starting berth in the fans' balloting, was named for the 14th consecutive year, while Oliva was picked for the seventh straight time since he joined the Twins as a rookie.

Other reserves chosen by Manager Earl Weaver of Baltimore, who will pilot the AL club at Cincinnati next week, and announced by the league, were catchers Ray Roscoe, of Cleveland and Jerry Moses of Boston; infielders Sandy Alomar and Jim Fregosi of California and Tommy Harper of Milwaukee, and outfielders Roy White of New York, Amos Otis of Kansas City, Willie Horton of Detroit and Alex Johnson of California.

Outfielder Al Kaline of the Detroit Tigers was named by Weaver as a squad member for the 17th time in his 18 major league seasons. However, Kaline was injured earlier this week and Moses was picked to replace him on the roster.

A league spokesman said that Fregosi was selected for the sixth time after Boston's Rico Petrocelli was withdrawn at the request of the Red Sox. Petrocelli, narrowly edged by shortstop Luis Aparicio of the Chicago White Sox in the fan balloting, reportedly needs rest badly.

Earlier, Weaver named Dave Johnson of the Orioles to replace injured Rod Carew of Minnesota as the starting second baseman.

Barring injuries, the Orioles will have seven players in uniform and the California Angels will have four for the All-Star Game.

The Yankees and Twins each will have three representatives, Boston, Detroit and Cleveland two each, and Washington, Kansas City, Milwaukee, Oakland and Chicago the minimum of one apiece.

Weaver followed fan voting in naming Oliva, White and Horton, who finished behind starters Frank Robinson of Baltimore, Frank Howard of Washington and Carl Yastrzemski of Boston. However, he ignored the balloting in adding Johnson and Otis, the only regular centerfielder on the AL squad.

The final vote tally for catchers also was dismissed by Weaver as he picked the hot hitting Fosse and Moses to back-up starter Bill Freehan of the Tigers.

Valiant and Intrepid in 1st Meeting

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — The first confrontation between Valiant and Intrepid in the America's Cup observation trials will take place today, weather permitting.

This much awaited first meeting between the two leading 12-meter yachts in the trials to select a U.S. defender for the famed sailing classic in September, was to have taken place Wednesday. It was canceled because of heavy fog.

The U.S. defender will be pitted against either the French yacht, France, or the Gretel from Australia, in the cup races, a best-of-7 affair, starting off Newport Sept. 15.

Detroit Downs Boston

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
The longest single of Dalton Jones' career and the shortest rain delay in baseball history has combined to keep Baltimore's East Division leaders within hailing distance in the American League.

Jones delivered what appeared to be a pinch hit grand slam homer Thursday night but was credited with only a single when he passed teammate Don Wert on the basepaths. The mental blunder did no harm because three runs scored on the play and Detroit went on to whip Boston 7-3.

New York, in danger of having a three-run rally in the top of the sixth in Baltimore wiped out by rain, argued a halt in play long enough for a shower to blow over. They managed to get another inning in, making their rally legal and beat the Orioles 7-5 in a game ended by rain in the eighth inning.

Elsewhere in the American League Thursday night, Washington whacked Cleveland 9-3; Chicago edged Milwaukee 6-5, and Minnesota topped California 4-2. Kansas City and Oakland were off.

In the National League, New York ripped Montreal 7-1, Pittsburgh blanked St. Louis 6-0, San Francisco edged Atlanta 7-6 in 11 innings, San Diego nipped Cincinnati 10-9 in 10 innings and Houston belted Los Angeles 9-5. Chicago and Philadelphia had the day off.

The Tigers and Red Sox were tied at 3-3 in the seventh when Jones belted a two-out drive off the facing of the right field stands with the bases loaded. He was admiring the shot when he passed Wert between first and second and was called out on the technicality infraction.

"I was real excited about the hit," said Jones. "I was watching it and I never realized Wert was there. About half-way between first and second I came to my senses and hoped the umpire didn't see it. But he did. I've never done that before. I've never hit a grand slam either."

The umpires were alert to Jones' blunder and also to the heckling of the Red Sox over some ball-strike calls an inning earlier. Plate umpire John Rice thumbed pitcher Mike Nagy and catcher Gerry Moses and then third base ump Larry Napp cleared the Boston bench, sending all the players to the club house "to cool off." Napp said the players could have come into the game later from the club house but none did.

The victory moved the second place Tigers within six games of Baltimore. The Birds bowed to New York when the Yankees rallied for three unearned runs in the sixth inning—the last two on Jerry Kenney's bases-loaded single.

The start of the game was delayed 27 minutes by rain and it sprinkled throughout. The rain began coming down in earnest with Baltimore at bat in the bottom of the sixth and with two out and a 1-1 count on Don Buford, umpire Hank Soar signalled for the field to be covered.

Had the game been called at that point, the New York runs in the top half of the inning would have been erased and Baltimore would have won 5-4. The Yankees, aware of the jeopardy their lead was in, delayed leaving the field and the sudden shower quickly ended. An inning later, with the runs official, rain ended the game. The victory, only the third in the last 13 games for New York, left the Yanks 6½ games behind.

Carlos May and Ed Herrmann ripped fifth-inning homers that powered the Chicago White Sox past Milwaukee.

May connected with two on and Herrmann with the bases empty as the Sox built a 6-1 lead. The Brewers chipped away at the margin but never caught Chicago.

Washington used home runs by Paul Casanova, Tom Grieve and Rick Reichardt to back Casey Cox' five-hit pitching and whip Cleveland.

Casanova also had a double and three RBI as the Senators salvaged the final game after dropping four straight to the Indians. Ray Fosse and Ted Uhlaender homered for Cleveland.

The torrid Twins snapped a 2-2 tie in the ninth when relief pitcher Tom Hall poked a two-out single and Leo Cardenas followed with a centerfield homer

Trevino Is Jubilant at St. Andrews

By TOM REEDY
Associated Press Sports Writer
ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (AP) — "Just give me two straight 71s and I've got the British Open Golf Championship in my pocket," said flamboyant Lee Trevino today as he set out on the tourney's third round.

The 31-year-old self-styled Merry Mexican, playing out of Dallas, was eight-under-par for 36 holes and one-stroke ahead of an incredible field of 80 survivors from the original 134.

He's confident he can stay in front even though defending champion Tony Jacklin, Jack Nicklaus, and a host of Americans and rising British challengers are breathing down his neck.

"When you're leading, you can afford to miss one now and then. Anybody who says he wants to come from behind is a liar," Trevino said.

"I promised my wife four 68's here and I got two of them. If I get two 71's in in."

Whether he can produce this one or not, the ebullient Trevino has a whopper of a program "including all the big ones in America," the Piccadilly World Match Play championship at Wentworth, England, and the Alcan on this side of the water, the World Cup in Argentina "and by then Santa Claus will be climbing down my chimney."

The British Open is the one he wants now. The title on the ancient Old Course where the game was born and which has become a must for the top Americans.

"I like it, this is a course where a good shot is rewarded and a bad shot is penalized," Trevino said.

"For all the work, playing golf to me is a holiday and even when I take a holiday I play 36 holes a day. I made up my mind I'll get bad weather again like I have here before and so decided to make the best of it and I guess I did."

Trevino led a contingent of 17 Americans into the third round

Catch-Up Baseball Fulfills Game

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
Catch-up baseball is a futile game...unless you hold on to what you've caught.

The Cincinnati Reds and Atlanta Braves mounted big comebacks Thursday night, then let their prey slip away again in extra-inning cliff-hangers.

Johnny Bench slammed a pair of two-run homers as the Reds made up a 9-1 deficit before bowing to the San Diego Padres 10-9 on Steve Huntz' sacrifice fly in the 10th inning.

The Braves erased a 6-0 San Francisco lead with one eighth-inning thrust, but the Giants rebounded to earn a 7-6 nod on Dick Dietz' run-scoring ground out in the 11th.

Elsewhere in National League play, the New York Mets rocked Montreal 7-1; Pittsburgh blanked St. Louis 6-0 and Houston thumped Los Angeles 9-5. Philadelphia and the Chicago Cubs were idle.

In the American League, the New York Yankees edged Baltimore 7-5 in a game halted by rain after 7½ innings; Detroit slugged Boston 7-3; Washington crushed Cleveland 9-3; Minnesota topped California 4-2 and the Chicago White Sox shaded Milwaukee 6-5. Kansas City and Oakland also had the day off.

The Padres raked rookie pitching ace Wayne Simpson for nine runs in the 2-3 innings he lasted, but Bench's fourth-inning homer started Cincinnati on the way back and the All-Star catcher unloaded his 28th homer of the season in the eighth before pinch hitter Bernie Carbo's three-run wallop tied it up.

Simpson, who started in quest of his 11th straight victory and 14th of the season, escaped his second setback as a result of the abortive Cincinnati rally. It marked the first time in 18 starts that he has failed to go at least five innings.

The Giants' Juan Marichal was breezing toward his first shut out of the season when Atlanta struck suddenly in the eighth. Felix Millan singled and Orlando Cepeda homered for two runs. Mike Lum doubled knowing well that a half-dozen British artisans of the sport are offering the stiffest fight they have in a long time.

The 6,951-yard par 72 Old Course was as fickle as usual, smiling one minute and lashing its scorpion's tail the next just in case anybody got cocky.

"You've got to watch it every minute, not only on the ground but up there in the air," Trevino said with professional caution.

The low 55 and ties continue on Saturday for the 18-hole finals for total prize money of $100,000—$12,000 to the winner, who can parlay that into much, much more.

Play opening at 3:30 p.m. EDT, featured new faces like Trevino, Jacklin, Neil Coles, Harold Henning of South Africa, Tommy Horton and Clive Clark of England. But there also was the old Nicklaus and the older Arnold Palmer on the threatening fringe. The third man of the once dominant triumvirate, Gary Player of South Africa, was there by surferance only. His 149 was the cut off point that cut the field and 13 shots behind.

Clemente Out, Alou in for All-Star Game Next Tuesday Night

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Roberto Clemente's stiff neck apparently will put his Pittsburgh Pirates teammate Matty Alou on the National League All-Star team.

Clemente, the Pirates' three-time league batting champion, was named Thursday to the All-Star squad a 10th time. He then said he would decline the invitation and get some rest.

"I would rather not participate. Every morning it's the same way. I can hardly move my neck. I've been playing in pain," he said.

Since New York Mets Manager Gil Hodges must make sure at least one player from each team is on his All-Star squad for Tuesday's game in Cincinnati, Alou is the most likely replacement for Clemente.

Clemente was the only Pirate on the 28-man team and Alou, who finished 11th among the outfielders in the voting by fans, would fill Clemente's spot.

Other outfielders named by Hodges as he completed the team, were Clarence Gaston of San Diego, Jim Hickman of Chicago, Pete Rose of Cincinnati and Rusty Staub of Montreal.

Catchers added to the team were Dick Dietz of San Francisco and Joe Torre of St. Louis and the extra infielders are Bill Grabarkewitz of Los Angeles, Bud Harrelson of New York, Willie McCovey of San Francisco, Denis Menke of Houston and Felix Millan of Atlanta.

Gaston Grabarkewitz, Hickman, Harrelson and Dietz will be making their All-Star debuts. The most glaring omission from Hodges' Thursday selections was Chicago Cubs outfielder Billy Williams, whose credentials include a .321 batting average, 26 home runs and 80 runs batted in.

Hodges also announced Thursday that managers Leo Durocher of Chicago and Luman Harris of Atlanta would be the National League coaches for the game.

home another and Clete Boyer rapped a tying three-run homer.

But Willie Mays singled in the 11th off Bob Priddy, moved to third when the fourth ball to Willie McCovey was a wild pitch and scored the winning run on Dietz' roller to the mound. Winner Don McMahon worked out of a bases-loaded jam in the bottom of the 11th to assure the victory.

Dietz drove in two earlier runs with a single for a total of 12 RBI in the four-game series.

Tom Seaver stopped Montreal on three hits and hit his first major league homer enroute to his 14th victory and Ron Swoboda drilled a grand slam homer as the Mets rolled to their seventh straight win.

The Pirates remained 1½ games behind first place New York in the NL East by taming the Cards on the five-hit pitching of Dock Ellis. Singles by Roberto Clemente, Jose Pagan and Bill Mazeroski plus two errors by shortstop Jim Kennedy keyed a four-run burst in the fifth.

Dennis Menke hit a grand slam homer in the first inning and stroked a run-scoring single in the third as the Astros stopped Los Angeles' winning streak at seven games and ended their own tailspin at five.

Little Is Furious Over Title Loss

MONZA, Italy (AP) — Piston-punching Freddie Little had just taken one on the chin—and was fighting mad about it.

"The referee was very unfair. I thought I had clearly won," Freddie fumed Thursday night after losing his world junior middleweight boxing title in a 15-round decision to Carmelo Bossi of Italy.

"I can't understand where the referee (Donald Dakin of Great Britain) got the four-point advantage for Bossi," Little added.

Dakin's scorecard carried 73 points for Bossi and 69 for the former American champion. The AP had eight rounds even, five for Bossi and two for Little.

Dakin warned Little between the sixth and seventh rounds because Little had pulled his trunks up to cover most of his stomach, above the belt. Dakin, however, did not count when Little fell to the canvas in the 11th round after a clinch. The referee said Bossi had pushed Little.

Bossi, a 30-year-old who now lives in Milan, revenge a defeat Little hung on him in a non-title bout last October. The Italian used brute defensive tactics to offset the American, champ.

Bossi forced Little into the attack, quietly waiting for the 34-year-old American to tire and slow down. In the 13th round the Italian suddenly woke up and began bombarding Little with combinations of left and right hooks to the head which clearly shook the American.

The champion was unable to keep up with Bossi's speed and the Italian piled up a thin, but clear margin for victory.

The Italian, with a tight defense and good speed, was never in trouble. Little was never able to connect solidly with his left hook and put power in his blows.

For those who had seen Little win the world crown in Rome in October 1968 by crushing Sandro Mazzinghi of Italy, the Las Vegas boxer was a big disappointment against Bossi.

After the Monza match Bossi's record was 38 victories, two draws and six defeats. Little's record was 46 victories, one no contest and six defeats.

Bossi barely made the weight for the match, topping the scales just under 154 pounds. Little weighed 153.

Crawford, Sikes at Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The $110,000 Milwaukee Open golf tournament moved into the second round today with two Arkansas pros among the leaders.

Richard Crawford of Bella Vista shot a four-under-par 68 Thursday with nines of 33-35. R. H. Sikes of Springdale equaled par 72 with nines of 36-36.

Bob Menne was the first-round leader with a 68.

My Dad George to Try Again

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

My Dad George who was expected to win the Belmont Stakes but didn't, starts a comeback this weekend that his connections hope will make the colt again a contender for 3-year-old honors of the year.

The winner of the Flamingo and Florida Derby and the runner-up in the Kentucky Derby and the Preakness before finishing out of the money as the favorite in the Belmont, goes in the $75,000-added Dwyer Handicap at Aqueduct in New York.

On the west coast, the big race on Saturday, is the $162,100 Hollywood Golf Cup at Hollywood Park in California where Balfe shoots for the $102,100 first prize.

The meeting of the unbeaten 2-year-old fillies, Decet and Unity Hall, in the Blue Hen Stakes at Delaware Park, and another duel between Office Queen and Missile Belle in the Mommouth Oaks at the New Jersey oval are other top attractions on the national program.

Elsewhere there is the Matron Handicap at Arlington Park, the Mayflower Stakes at Suffolk Downs, the Gettysburg Handicap at Liberty Bell, the Milette Handicap at Detroit, the Julia Tuttle Handicap at Tropical Park and the feature at Lincoln Downs.

My Dad George is the top weight at 126 pounds in the Dwyer at 1-1/4 miles. Climber, Naskra, Needless N Pens, Summer Resort, Aggressively, Excellence and Count Alibel are likely to be in the field against him.

Baffle, second to Fiddle Isle in the American Handicap on July 4, but previously the winner of the Californian and the Inglewood Handicap, is the top weight at 124 in the Hollywood Gold Cup.

Egonero, the second high weight at 121, and six others round out the field for the 1-1/4 mile test. The others are Pleasure Seeker, Neurologi, T.V. Commercial, Fairflet II, Makor and Rock Burner.

Only two are expected to compete against Unity Hall and Decet in the 5 1/2-furlong Blue Hen. They are Faggy and Conjugate. Cathy Honey and Capercaille are among the possibilities in the Mommouth Oaks against Missile Belle and Office Queen.

Brazen Brother heads the probabilities for the Mayflower. Quid Pro Quo, Never Wink, Northern Bay, Futura Bold, Distinctive and Crack Ruler are likely starters in the Gettysburg.

Johnson New Executive of American

NEW YORK (AP) — Johnny Johnson, a New York Yankee official for almost a quarter of a century, is the new administrative officer of baseball.

Johnson, 48, was appointed Thursday by Commissioner Bowie Kuhn to replace John McHale, who resigned to become president of the Montreal Expos. Johnson's appointment takes effect Aug. 1.

Duties of the post include administration of the World Series and All Star game, working

Wrestlers of U.S. in Trouble

EDMONTON (AP) — The United States ran into difficulty Thursday in preliminary rounds of the World Amateur Freestyle Wrestling Championships.

Trouble started for the Americans in the 180½-pound division when defending champion Fred Fozzard of Stillwater, Okla., was outpointed 10-6 by Ivan Ivanov of Bulgaria.

Later it was announced that Rich Sanders of Portland, Ore., would not defend his world title in the 114½-pound division because he became too heavy for the division.

Ernie Fulton of Vancouver, who replaced Canadian champion Ed Millard of King City, Ont., in the 220-pound division, was disqualified for too many cautions against Larry Kristoff of Edwardsville, Ill.

Other U.S. wrestlers who won first-round matches were John Morley of New York, 114½ pounds; Bob Douglas of Ames, Iowa, 149½; Mike Young of Salt Lake City, Utah, 136½; Don Behm of Lansing Mich. 125½; Wayne Wells of the University of Oklahoma, 163, and Bill Harlow of Chicago.

In freestyle last year, Russia won four gold medals while Iran, Japan and the United States took two each.

Freestyle competition, with 168 wrestlers, end Saturday with the playing rules committee, player development at the minor league, amateur and college level and relations with other sports such as coordinating schedules.

Johnson joined the Yankees in 1947 after four years in the Coast Guard. He was business manager of various farm clubs, an aide in public relations, assistant road secretary, sales director of player personnel, farm director and, since 1964, vice president in charge of player procurement and development.

Kuhn also announced Thursday the retirement at the end of the year of Charles Segar, secretary-treasurer of baseball since 1951. Segar, 66, was public relations chief for the National League from 1946 to 1951 after several years of service on Brooklyn and New York newspapers.

Post 5th in Public Links Tourney

LEMONT, Ill. (AP) — Eddie Post of Fort Smith, Ark., shot a par 72 Thursday and moved into a tie for fifth place in the National Public Links Golf Tournament.

Post had a 36-hole total of 149, seven shots off the pace set by Ted Meier of Joliet, Ill. Ken Honeysuckle of Little Rock, Arkansas' other representative in the tournament, qualified for the final 36 holes with a 156 score. Honeysuckle had rounds of 77-79. A score of 158 or better was needed to make the cut.

night. Under the International World Amateur Wrestling Federation (IWA) rules, a competitor is eliminated when he receives six penalty points.

In Greco-Roman competition which ended Monday, Russia won the over-all standings with 43 points. The United States had 11.5 points for eighth place.

Thirty-four countries are participating in the championships.

Memorial Cancer Fund Established

In response to numerous requests from families, other groups and individuals, the American Cancer Society has inaugurated a Memorial Fund to which friends and families of cancer victims may contribute, according to Mrs. Olin Purtell, Memorial Fund Chairman of the Hempstead county unit of the society.

"The Memorial Fund has been established to provide a practical and fitting means by which families or friends can commemorate a loved one who has died of cancer or other cause," Mrs. Purtell said.

"Contributions made in memory of a family member or a friend are acknowledged by the American Cancer Society, and a Memorial Card is sent to the family stating that a Memorial has been received and giving the name of the donor."

Mrs. Purtell said "Memorial funds are used in support of the Society's unceasing fight against cancer through coordinated programs of research, education, and service."

Although the major source of funds for these programs comes from the Society's annual April Crusade, Memorial Gifts received throughout the year are becoming increasingly important to the Society as more families and individuals become aware that they can contribute in the name of a loved one toward ultimate victory over the dread disease of cancer.

Anyone wishing to make such a Memorial contribution may send it to the American Cancer Society in care of Mrs. Olin Purtell, 1120 W. 7th, Hope, and it will be promptly acknowledged.

DETROIT (AP) — Terry Driscoll, former Boston College star who ignored U.S. pro offers to play in Italy last winter, has agreed to a three-year contract with the Detroit Pistons of the National Basketball Association.

The 6-foot-7, Driscoll signed Thursday for a reported $100,000 a year. He was the Pistons' No. 1 draft choice in 1969.

Travels of a Cross From Coast to Coast Arouse U.S. Spirit

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Some onlookers simply stare, mildly amused or puzzled. Others make wisecracks. "More knots!" Still others trail along briefly, interested, approving, asking questions. And from city to city, policemen sigh and wave the strange procession along.

"We're Jesus people," says the Rev. Arthur Blessitt, cross-country bearer of a heavy, wooden cross, big enough to crucify a man on.

Twice, he has had his walking boots resoled after wearing holes in them on his 3,500-mile trek from Los Angeles to Washington, D. C., toting the 105-pound Christian symbol, made of oil-treated, old 4-by-4's.

"We found them in a junkyard," he says.

The Rev. Mr. Blessitt, 29, sunburned, sandy-haired and clad in T-shirt and faded denim, came through New York City recently, and headed south, tugging along his curious cargo to "call this nation back to God and real brotherhood."

He's been on the road since Christmas, dispensing his message along the way. He expects to reach Washington July 18.

"As we've walked along the highways across this country, from city to city, at every step, we've seen hate and violence and bitterness," he says. "But we've also seen a tremendous spiritual birth taking place."

"It's beginning. It's happening everywhere, especially among young people, a real spiritual awakening. We've got to change. We're either going to have a bath of blood or a bath of love within the next year."

"And I believe that within the hearts of people in America this year, the greatest awakening spiritually that has happened in over 100 years is going to take place."

The Rev. Mr. Blessitt, a Mississippi-reared Southern Baptist known as the "minister of Sunset Strip" in Hollywood, runs a "gospel night club" there called "His Place," ministering to drug addicts, street gangs, hippies, prostitutes, motorcycle riders, runaways and topless dancers.

It serves coffee, soft drinks—and "soul" talk.

"You don't have to drop out to go high," he says. "All you have to do is pray, and you'll go all the way to heaven. You don't have to load up on pills—you can load up on four little books of Matthew, Mark, Luke and John. The best way to turn off drugs is to turn on with Jesus and stay loaded 24 hours a day."

Four of his converts to faith, Jim McPheeters, 22, Seattle, Wash., once on drugs; P.J. Peterson, 29, Phoenix, Ariz., a one-time alcoholic night club entertainer; Jesse Wise, 20, a former black militant, and Ramsey Gilchrist, 22, Baton Rouge, La., once a dropout agitator, are with the Rev. Mr. Blessitt on his pilgrimage.

In pairs, they take turns in two-hour shifts at carrying the 10-foot cross, each shouldering an end of the 4-foot crossbeam. The base of the upright rolls on two wheels, attached to keep the wood from being worn away by dragging.

They cover about three miles an hour, spending nights in two campers pulled from stop to stop by aging cars driven by the minister's wife, Sherry, and one of the men.

The Rev. Mr. Blessitt has led several evangelistic rallies at waystops, and he and his crew spread the word to bystanders en route.

"Jesus loves you," they call out, and often stop for brief conversations. They plaster little stickers on wayside posts, walls, car windows and people's clothes, saying, "Real peace is Jesus," "Smile—God loves you," and "Let's all get together."

"We don't keep books, but at least one person has been saved every mile of the walk," The Rev. Mr. Blessitt said, adding that hundreds of others committed themselves to Christ at rallies, including 500 in Pittsburgh and 456 at a meeting of 12,000 in Louisville.

"Thousands of cars have stopped as we walked along the highways and people get out weeping and say, 'Thank God, somebody is doing something,'" he related. "They offer to help carry the cross and say, 'It's beautiful!'"

But there also have been the jeers, taunts and sometimes threats, such as the filling station attendant in Birdseye, Ind., who threatened to burn the cross, saying, "This gasoline says that cross won't make it to Washington."

"We gave him some stickers and started talking to him about getting his heart right," the Rev. Mr. Blessitt says. "He was bamboozled. God struck him down and before we left, he was on his knees, giving his heart to the Lord."

The Rev. Mr. Blessitt's group expects to arrive in Washington July 18 for a "march for Christ" from the Washington Monument to the Capitol, and for participation in a day of prayer and fasting urged by the Southern Baptist convention there and elsewhere from noon July 18 to noon July 19.

Says the Rev. Mr. Blessitt: "We've got to start living together, working together and loving together and put this country back together."

El Paso Blasts Travs

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — beaten four times by ninth inning comebacks in their previous four games in Little Rock this year, El Paso unleashed a 17-hit attack Thursday to blast Arkansas 12-5 in a Texas League game.

El Paso sent 18 men to bat in the fifth and sixth innings in scoring eight runs, including six in the fifth.

John Rivers hit a home run, three singles, and walked in leading the Sun Kings barrage.

Righthander Lloyd Allen went the distance on an eight hitter and was assisted by three double plays for his seventh victory of the season. Bruce Von Hoff, first of three Arkansas pitchers, got the loss, bowing out in El Paso's six-run fifth.

Ted Bashore clouted a three-run home run in the 10th inning to give the Memphis Blues a 3-0 Texas League victory over Dallas - Fort Worth Thursday night at Memphis.

In other league action, Amarillo crushed Shreveport 10-2 and Albuquerque whipped San Antonio 8-1.

TOENSBURG, Norway (AP) — John Symonette of the Bahamas sailed his 5.5-meter yacht, John B, to his third straight victory in the Toensberg International Regatta Wednesday.

TO THE CITIZENS OF HEMPSTEAD COUNTY:

Construction on the State Line-Guernsey Road Safety Project has begun. The project is located at the Texas State Line Interchange and continues Northeasterly on existing location for approximately 25.4 miles.

Due to the nature of this work there will be several pieces of construction equipment along the route. If you travel in this vicinity, please do so with extreme caution and observe all warning signs. We are concerned with your safety as we are our own.

Every effort will be made to avoid troublesome traffic conditions and with the public's cooperation we will be able to complete the project within a minimum of time. Our company is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

It is our intent to construct a quality project of which Hempstead County and the State of Arkansas can be Proud, one that will be worth every tax dollar put into it.

Until the job is completed we will be ever mindful of the public's interest and convenience.

SYMBOLS FOR SAFETY

Canada has taken measures to stem the tide of childhood poisonings and other hazardous-product-associated injuries. Effective June 1, 1971, these warning labels will be required on poisonous, flammable, explosive and corrosive chemical products in everyday household use. Included are bleaches, polishes, sanitizers, glues and cleaners. Every aerosol—including nonflammables, such as shaving cream—must carry an "explosive" warning. Symbols are geared to severity of hazard with a triangle calling for caution, a diamond sounding a warning and an octagon for danger.

The late Sidney S. Lenz was one of the great card geniuses of all time. His genius did not extend to contract bidding. The game was invented so late in Sidney's life that he could not master that phase of the game. Thus, a better bidder would have wound up playing and making five diamonds or doubling and setting five hearts but Sidney chose to double the four-heart bid.

Against almost anyone else, the four-heart contract would wheel in, since there would be no way for the defense to get more than West's three aces, but the maestro managed to work out a way to get his partner into the lead.

He opened the ace of clubs and continued the suit after seeing his partner's nine. South won in dummy and started to lead hearts. He felt that he had to play out all his trumps in order to prevent a club ruff.

When South won the first heart with the 10, Sidney started to think. Finally he came up with an exact guess as to South's distribution and a pretty good guess that South held the king and a smaller diamond. Sidney could then visualize South leading a spade to dummy after pulling all the trumps and then dropping his (Sidney's) ace by leading a low spade from dummy. After that happened, there would be no way to defeat the contract.

Then Sidney worked out a real defensive gem. He carefully discarded his ace and jack of spades on South's trumps.

He would have looked mighty silly if South had held the 10 of spades but South didn't hold that card. Now, there was no way for South to keep East out of the lead and when East did get the lead he was able to play a diamond and give Sidney the setting tricks.

A WET DERBY

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)

The 1928 Kentucky Derby drew 196 nominations and 22 starters.

Jockeys were told by the late Bill Hamilton to swing their mounts wide around the first turn near the seven-eighths pole.

Winner of the race was Reigh Count, owned by Mrs. John D. Hertz.

WAREHOUSE BURNS AT Little Rock
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Fire destroyed a warehouse of the Southern Cotton and Oil Co. in Little Rock late Wednesday night.

STANDING TALL in the stirrups, a construction worker "rides" a piece of Foster steel sheet piling 30 feet above water level. His job is to connect grooves for proper alignment during driving.

Anti-Crime Funds Reach Arkansas
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — John Hickey, director of the state Commission on Crime and Law Enforcement, said Wednesday that the commission had released $1,268,249 to local, county and state agencies through 16 programs.
Hickey said the money would be shared by city police departments, county sheriff's offices and state agencies. The federal share of the programs amounts to $723,664.
The programs had been announced last month.

YOU CAN THWART SOUND POLLUTION
By MR. FIX
Noise pollution is something that has come with modern living. We not only reproduce sounds better but we reproduce more of them and louder than ever. Homes and offices are filled not only with the sounds of background music but the hum of machinery.
You can reproduce music in your home with the fidelity of a concert hall but it is still just a house and maybe a small one at that. Radio and television sets are not only in every home but in almost every room of every home.
Autos, motor scooters, power lawnmowers all make the great outdoors the noisy outdoors—and an awful lot of that noise leaks into our homes.
A quiet place is not easy to find, not even in the country. Apartment living means people above and below and maybe alongside. Your own home, no matter how quiet, is still bombarded from sounds all around you.
Few dwellings were constructed with the idea of keeping out anything more than wind and weather. Sound is another problem entirely.
You can, however, take the edge off the noise that's around you and you don't have to turn your place into a padded cell to do it.
Try a few simple remedies first. Concentrate on the noisiest places, such as rooms that face a busy street.
Heavy drapes are a good start. Wall to wall carpeting over thick padding will deaden footsteps, cut out echoes. Rubber or felt weatherstripping around storm sash will deaden some noise.
The old fashioned solid wood door was a pretty soundproof thing. Today's hollow core doors transmit everything on either side.
If you can't replace the door then cover it with a fiber or cork matting. Cover this with plastic or hardboard to make it easy to clean.
Not in the simple-remedy class, but not terribly hard to handle, is the adding of acoustical materials. These are more porous than ordinary building materials (wood, plaster) and they absorb sound waves instead of reflecting them.
Acoustical ceiling tiles will do much to deaden the sound in any room. These are available in a 12 x 12-

Not a CENT for GOD!

What a story here! And it's all written down, too. The stub of an old check book! Here is part of the story of what one man wanted most in life. Here he selected and paid for the things dearest to his heart. Here is the measuring stick by which he determined things most valuable to him... his selection, then his check, his money. Mister, what would the stubs of one of your old check books reveal? Suppose in the future friends of yours should thumb through it. Would you be proud of your portrait there? Would you be ashamed of the relative importance it gave to the church on the corner? Don't kid yourself. As a good steward of the goodness of God, act on your better judgment today. Your church needs you, and you need your church.

You in The Church... The Church in You...
Form a combination for good. Every man, woman and child needs the influence of the church. Be a faithful worker. A church is every service.

McCormack Aide Guilty on One Count May Be Cut

War Dept's Loan Power May Be Cut

By MARTIN ROGART
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — After nearly 17 hours of deliberation, a federal court jury has found Martin Sweig, suspended chief administrative aide to House Speaker John McCormack, guilty of one count of perjury and acquitted him on six other counts.

"Thank God it's over," Sweig said after the four women and eight men returned their verdict Thursday.

The suspended aide, who had been employed for 24 years in the Speaker's office, was indicted on one count of conspiracy and six counts of perjury.

The indictment charged that Sweig conspired with lobbyist Nathan Voloshen to defraud the government by misusing the prestige of the Speaker's office and that the pair pressured government agencies to obtain favors for clients of Voloshen.

Voloshen pleaded guilty when the trial opened June 17.

Sweig, 48, was found guilty of lying to a federal grand jury here about knowing Gary Roth of Lawrence, N.Y., and denying he made calls in the name of the Speaker.

Judge Marvin Frankel set Aug. 31 for sentencing. Sweig faces a maximum of five years in prison and a $2,000 fine. His lawyer, Paul T. Smith, said he would appeal the verdict.

During the trial, testimony indicated that Voloshen received $1,500 to obtain a hardship discharge for Roth, and that Sweig made calls to Army officers saying the Speaker was a close friend of the Roth family.

A juror who declined to be identified told newsmen later that the panel thought the Roth matter should not have been forgotten by Sweig because of memoranda bearing Sweig's initials which were introduced at the trial.

The juror said the majority of the panel had been inclined to acquit Sweig of all perjury charges except the Roth matter, because Sweig was "a busy man," and conceivably could have forgotten events about which he was accused of perjuring himself.

'Bare' Act in Theater Banned

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Part of Miss Barbara Boyle's act in "Come Live With Me" has been banned in Little Rock.

Miss Boyle, who appears in the play at the Olde West Dinner Theatre was censored by the Little Rock Censor Board because in one brief scene she appears topless, but no more.

Thursday night Miss Boyle did the scene as she has in the past two evenings: she unbuttons a fur coat to show what she is wearing to a costume party, there is silence, she turns to the audience. The packed audience laughs. Her top is wrapped in white cloth saying "Censored," and she is wearing bikini briefs.

War Dept's Loan Power May Be Cut

By H. L. SCHWARTZ III
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Acting in the wake of an aborted administration attempt to aid the ailing Penn Central Railroad, the Senate has voted to sharply limit the Defense Department's authority to guarantee loans.

The Senate passed and sent to the House Thursday night a two-year extension of the Defense Production Act, under which the administration almost rescued the railroad from financial trouble.

After first promising to guarantee $200 million in loans the administration backed out. Shortly thereafter, the railroad sought reorganization under bankruptcy law.

The Senate Thursday slashed the maximum amount the government could guarantee to $20 million. Larger amounts would require congressional consent.

The vote on the limitation was 75-0, then the act passed 69-1.

Also added by the Senate was a provision which, for the first time, would require defense contractors to follow uniform accounting standards.

Supporters said the new requirement could save the taxpayers up to $2 billion a year. Opponents called it a "costly experiment" that might doom many small contractors.

The limitation sponsored by Sens. William Proxmire, D-Wis., and Harry F. Byrd Jr., D-Va., would bar the President from using the act to approve any loan designed to save a failing company unless he first certified that such a failure would impair the national defense effort and gave Congress 10 days notice.

First enacted in 1950, the Defense Production Act authorizes the Defense Department to fix priorities and allocate materials needed by the military, as well as to guarantee loans.

Safety Project on 1-30 Here

Bituminous, Inc., a highway construction firm of Pine Bluff, announced today that construction has begun on the State Line-Guernsey Road safety project.

The project consists of 25.356 miles of safety improvement, including grading, modification of minor drainage structures, concrete pier protections, concrete parapet walls, erosion control items and miscellaneous items on the Texarkana-Little Rock Interstate Road, State Highway 30, Section 1, Miller and Hempstead Counties.

The project begins at the Texas State Line Interchange and continues northeasterly on existing location for approximately 25.4 miles.

Harry Metcalf noted the project will utilize local labor and materials as much as possible and that his firm is an Equal Opportunity Employer.

All motorists are encouraged to cooperate with the construction driver-safety program by observing caution signs and obeying signalmen when driving through the project. The project is scheduled for completion in 250 working days. A low bid of $493,691.39 was accepted by the Arkansas State Highway Department at the May Letting.

Bituminous, Inc. is a member of the Associated General Contractors of America, Inc. in Arkansas; a national association representing contractors engaged in heavy, highway, building and utility construction.

C. F. Mauk is the resident engineer and John Tallant is the district engineer on the project.

Suit Filed on Bank Stock

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — La-Co Inc., has filed suit in Chancery Court to attempt to prevent the sale of stock in the First National Bank of Magnolia.

The suit, filed Thursday, alleges that Weaver Investments, Inc., is attempting to sell stock in the bank at less than fair market value.

La-Co Inc., is a stockholder in Weaver.

The suit alleged that the sale of the stock would constitute fraud by Weaver's officers and directors to avoid paying a $214,249 debt that Weaver owes La-Co.

La-Co said that Weaver has refused to pay the debt. The suit asks that the court appoint a receiver to prevent the sale of the bank stock and to prevent disposing of Weaver's assets.

The suit alleged that Weaver Investments owed "certain large and substantial obligations secured by the stock in the First National Bank of Magnolia and that if said obligations are not paid when due all assets of Weaver Investments will be lost by default."

A hearing has been set for 1:30 p.m. Thursday on the receivership and temporary injunction.

Seek Wreck Site of 'Copter

By MICHAEL PUTZEL
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — American troops set out again today to reach the wreckage of the helicopter that crashed into a mountain with Maj. Gen. George W. Casey and six other Americans aboard.

The wreckage was spotted from the air Thursday. Ground troops tried to reach it but were pulled out at darkness. Military sources said there were no signs of life in the wreckage.

The UH1 Huey helicopter was piloted by Casey, commander of the 1st Air Cavalry Division. It crashed Tuesday, but the U.S. Command withheld the location to prevent the enemy from reaching the site first.

Casey, 48, of North Scituate, Mass., was flying to a military hospital in Vietnam to visit wounded members of his division.

There was no indication whether enemy action was responsible for the crash.

Casey was a qualified pilot but also had a regular pilot with him at the controls. Also aboard the helicopter were the general's aide, the division sergeant major, two crewmen and an Army stenographer.

In war action today, one American and two South Vietnamese battalions launched a sweep operation to clear the area around the abandoned Marine base at Khe Sanh, in the northwest corner of the country. Troops of the U.S. 101st Airborne Division and helicopter

Would Lift Ceiling on Farm Aid

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration has decided to fight a Senate-passed limit of $20,000 on government farm payments by going all-out for a $55,000 lid, says Rep. W. R. Poage, D-Tex.

Poage, chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, says he was told by Agriculture Secretary Clifford M. Hardin that administration muscle would be applied in support of higher restriction.

"The administration told me yesterday and today that they were going to go all out for $55,000 and I think they will," Poage said Thursday night.

His comments followed Wednesday's 53-44 Senate vote for an Agriculture Department appropriations bill rider limiting to $20,000 the amount of government farm payments an individual could collect per year.

There is no limit under present farm programs, which are due to expire this year. Critics have pointed to huge payments—some more than $1 million each—as evidence that farm programs help big operators at the expense of small farmers.

The House has twice in recent years approved a $20,000 limit only to have it upset in legislative conferences with the Senate. Wednesday's action was a surprise turnabout.

Poage, a staunch defender of paying farmers for idling excess acres, has acknowledged for some time that some type of payment limitation is inevitable if new farm legislation is to gain approval in an urban-oriented Congress.

Friday, July 10, 1970

The administration until recently has been only lukewarm on the subject.

The hard commitment of administration support came after the Senate action. Asked specifically if the pledge for "all out" backing came from Hardin, Poage said it did.

The payment controversy has been emotional and often clouded by rhetoric exhibiting ignorance on the part of many critics, Poage said.

Nevertheless, farmers now are being paid around $3.5 billion for not producing crops. The payments take a number of forms but all are keyed to taking between 50 million and 60 million acres of land from crop production each year.

1,204 New Employees Payroll of $7,209,000

The above headline reflects what has happened in Hope in industrial growth and progress since the City Manager form of government has been in effect.

The following article also reflects what was happening in Hope PRIOR to the adoption of the City Manager plan.

Question No. 1 - Before Hope adopted the City-Manager form of government, what was the situation in regard to industrial growth, jobs, and the general economy of the city and county?

Answer: Industries like the Hope Basket Company and Hope Heading Company were going out of business and their employees losing their jobs. Hope was going backwards in industrial growth and losing payroll income. Both the young and the old citizens were leaving town to get a job somewhere else. Our general economy was going down, down, down. Real estate values were becoming lower and lower.

Question No. 2 - After the City-Manager form of government was adopted, what has been the situation in regard to industrial growth, jobs, and the general economy?

Answer: Twelve (12) new and expanded diversified industries have been added to our industrial group - Tolber Corporation, Meyer's Bakery, Corn Belt Hatcheries and Hope Eggland, Hope Wire Products, Mountaineer Feed Mill, Standard Generator, G & S Manufacturing Company, Morris Harwell and Company, Southwestern Frozen Foods, Young American (Mobile) Homes and Southern Grain and Elevator...and International Paper Company (formerly Gunter Sawmill).

Question No. 3 - How many new jobs have been created and how much new annual income from payrolls only added to our local economy?

TO RETAIN THE CITY MANAGER FORM OF GOVERNMENT, MARK YOUR BALLOT ON JULY 14 IN THE FOLLOWING MANNER:

FOR the proposition to reorganize the City of Hope under the MAYOR COUNCIL form of government.

AGAINST the proposition to reorganize the City of Hope under the MAYOR COUNCIL form of government.

The U.N.: Mixed Verdict On Its 25th Birthday

Anniversaries never fail to produce reappraisals and the United Nations, observing its 25 birthday, no doubt will be the subject of a multitude of pro and con pieces before the year is out.

The verdict on the world organization at its quarter-century mark must be, in our view, a mixed one with more on the debit side than on the credit.

Our feeling that the U. N. has not lived up to expectations and in fact, is losing ground—is shared by one of the organization's greatest supporters, former Canadian Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson.

Mr. Pearson declares that unless the United Nations undergoes major change in the next 10 years it will disintegrate. He proposes that a three-man task force devise ways and means of making the organization more effective.

In truth, the U. N. has become little more than a propaganda podium for the so-called "neutralist" bloc. A multitude of tiny minisates, each with the same vote as a United States or Russia or Great Britain, clog the proceedings with minor matters while the great issues go unheard.

The U. N., for example, can propose armed invasion plans to unseat peaceful governments in Rhodesia and South Africa and offer pious criticism of the U. S. effort in Southeast Asia while Soviet aggression in Czechoslovakia goes completely uncensured.

U. N. peacekeeping efforts with a major exemption, are ignored. For example Security Council resolutions on a cease-fire in the Middle East have been coldshouldered by all sides; so have similar proposals on the status of Jerusalem and an over-all settlement.

Even if some wide peacekeeping measure could be devised by the United Nations there is always the fact that any single member of the Security Council can invoke its veto power and block any action.

Certainly we do agree that the United Nations has scored some real successes. A tiny UN peacekeeping force has, for some time stood between volatile Turkish and Greek factions on the island of Cyprus—an example of what the world organization might accomplish on a larger scale.

The United Nations has established a number of specialized agencies that truly help the hungry, the illiterate and the needy in many undeveloped lands. U. N. teams have pioneered medical improvement programs in many parts of the world.

But on balance, the world organization has failed to meet the major challenges of this era and, indeed, has become little more than an East River sounding board for hypocritical Communist-neutralist diplomats.

Unless the United Nations does somehow find a way to function more efficiently and actively it may suffer the fate of the old League of Nations and disappear altogether. Founded as the hope of mankind, the world organization deserves better than that.

3 Egyptian Planes Are Downed

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli warplanes shot down three Egyptian fighter-bombers in dog fights over the Suez Canal today, the military command announced.

The Egyptian planes were Soviet-made MIG21s, a spokesman said.

They had attempted to intercept Israeli warplanes which began raiding Egyptian targets on the northern sector of the waterway a few hours earlier, he reported.

The aircraft were felled by cannon and rocket fire, he added.

30 Billion Dollars Lasts Only a Year in the Vietnam War

By DANIEL De LUCE

Associated Press Writer

It's fantastic to see what $30 billion a year buys for the United States in South Vietnam.

You can watch a million of those dollars go bang in just one mission by B52s. They've been flying 2,500 missions a year in South Vietnam.

The average mission consists of six Stratofortresses dropping a total of 180 tons of high explosives, from six miles up, on a patch of ground the flight crew knows by map coordinates.

But American dollars are South Vietnam's lifeblood in ways that go beyond the high cost of waging war with 413,900 Americans and more than a million Vietnamese under arms.

Vietnam foreign trade? It runs a deficit of more than $700 million yearly. The United States picks up the tab—all of it.

National employment? There are 150,000 Vietnamese and 20,000 "third country nationals" on American payrolls. Together with their dependents, about 750,000 civilians. The cost is more than $400 million yearly, right out of the U.S. Treasury.

Every give-away program of the Saigon government is financed by the United States. The programs proliferate. New Life Development Open Arms. Handclasp. Land for the Tiller. Work for Peace. All are part of the political war.

Last February in North Vietnam, I saw relatively large amounts of equipment from the Soviet Union and China for repairing the road and rail communications which U.S. bombers had smashed in a four-year offensive.

I also saw an array of imported armaments, at the People's Armed Forces exhibition in Hanoi, which ranged from tanks to surface-to-air missiles.

But as I know now, after touring South Vietnam, the gift construction equipment from the so-called socialist bloc is a tiny fraction of what the United States reconstruction effort amounts to south of the 17th Parallel. All the Sino-Soviet trucks, bulldozers, graders, rollers and cranes in the North, which I counted in a thousand miles of road travel, could get lost in just a corner of a U.S. supply depot at Da Nang.

Supply depots in four corps areas are stockpiled with multimillion-dollar reserves of new military and civilian equipment materials. Seaports are congested with shipping. On the docks, you see mountains of rice from Louisiana and pine lumber from Oregon, with other U.S. products.

South Vietnam imported $745 million of commercial items alone in the past year. Its exports amounted to $16 million. The deficit, equivalent to $40 for each of 17.8 million Vietnamese, was entirely covered by the United States.

Backed by U.S. aid, the Saigon government is distributing a special gift of 1 million piasters to every country village for a public works project of its own choice. This program will cost more than $18 million if completed. There are 2,517 villages.

Declining Fortunes of Boeing Cast Dark Cloud on Northwest

By PAUL WELLS

Associated Press Writer

SEATTLE (AP) — Few spots glowed brighter on the nation's economic map in 1968 than Washington state. Now a scant two years later, few are bleak.

This is particularly true in the Seattle area, home of Boeing Co., world's largest builder of commercial jetliners. For four months the state has had the highest unemployment rate in the country—about double the national average. June unemployment exceeded 110,000 out of a statewide work force of 1.4 million. The seasonally adjusted rate was 8.6 per cent. A year ago it was 2.2 per cent.

But in the Seattle metropolitan area, where 1.8 million of the state's 3.339 million residents live, things were worse.

Economists and Mayor Wes Uhlman believe the area unemployment rate may climb from its present 10 per cent to 15-17 per cent during the winter, pushing the number of jobless to around 110,000.

"Already King County (Seattle) has more than 100,000 out of a population of 1.13 million on welfare in some form or another," Uhlman said. "That figure will increase as those drawing unemployment compensation use up their benefits."

What sent the state's economy into a critical tailspin? Boeing, mainly.

Its unexpectedly sharp cutbacks, forced by declining jetliner sales and failure to win the B1 supersonic manned bomber and other U.S. government contracts, have been particularly traumatic. As Washington's largest single employer, Boeing has been the state's prosperity weather-vane.

The state's second biggest industry, lumber and wood products, also has been in the doldrums because of the depressed housing market. Employment dropped from 66,800 in March 1969 to 62,600 in May 1970. Agriculture, the state's third mainstay, has been weak except for livestock.

Because the federal tight-money squeeze on the inflation balloon has had heavy impact on transportation and housing, the effect on this area, which relies strongly on both, has also been great—greater, say area spokesmen, than in other parts of the country.

A ray of sunshine penetrated the economic clouds with the announcement Wednesday that Boeing had won a potential $2 billion contract to develop the Airborne Warning and Control System known as AWACS.

The immediate lift from the contract will be mostly psychological, however, because the first phase will only increase the number of Boeing employees assigned to the program to 1,500 from 200, all from transfers within the company. The big impact would come from full-scale production, possibly four years away, when AWACS employment in the area would reach 9,000.

Boeing cuts have been across the board, affecting high-salaried management and technical personnel as well as production workers.

A-Bomb Not Linked With Earthquakes

By FRANK CAREY

AP Science Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two government seismologists said today a seven-year study of earthquakes showed no apparent connection between nuclear explosions and the destructive tremors.

J. H. Healy and P. Anthony Marshall, both of the U.S. Geological Survey, reported just as many earthquakes occurred before underground atomic explosions as afterwards.

The two scientists said they excluded earth tremors occurring within about five miles of atomic explosions since researchers previously established that "relatively small earthquakes are triggered close to the sites of some nuclear explosions."

The findings bolster Atomic Energy Commission contentions that underground testing produces only harmless surface aftershocks beyond the immediate blast sites.

Several AEC projects over the past several months have been met with flurries of protests from citizens' groups which feared the explosions might set off widespread tremors.

Numerous nuclear tests in the Nevada desert have, so far, produced no major earthquakes, the AEC reported earlier. An underground explosion in the tremor-prone Aleutians, off the Alaska coast, caused no major disturbance.

The two researchers said they studied earthquakes occurring between Sept. 15, 1961, and Dec. 19, 1968, in an area covering most of the United States.

Their report in the technical journal "Science" said 235 underground nuclear blasts were touched off during that period.

"We found that 446 earthquakes occurred in the 104-hour periods immediately following the 235 nuclear explosions and that 447 earthquakes occurred within similar periods immediately preceding the explosions," their report read.

"Attempts to show that earthquakes extend more than a few tens of kilometers from those (nuclear explosion) sites have been unsuccessful," they reported. A kilometer is about five-eighths of a mile.

Vacation Something More Than Catching Fish or Girls—Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Are you bored with routine vacations?

Don't you get tired of sweating all day in a hot rowboat trying to catch a wary wall-eyed pike, and then sitting all night in a resort hotel's frigid cocktail lounge in hopes of snoring an unwary glassy-eyed blonde?

What you need is a vacation doing things you've never done before. For example, you might—

Count the goose bumps on a frightened wart hog. Organize a marathon flagpole-sitting contest for politicians who've bored you by their fence-sitting tactics.

Take Dean Martin to a marsh-mallow toasting orgy.

Send your boss a box of a dozen assorted molehills and see how many mountains he can make of them.

Build a love nest in that unused corner of your attic. See if you can find a bank that will let you open a savings account without having to lug home an electric toaster or piece of luggage.

Motorcycle and Auto Collide

Hope Police Dept. investigated an accident Thursday at 3:55 p.m. at the intersection of W. Sixth and Spring Hill Road where a motorcycle ridden by Therman Lindsey of Hope ran a stop sign and hit a car driven by Mary Sutton of Shreveport.

Considerable damage resulted to both vehicles. Officer Haltom charged Lindsey with no driver's license and failure to yield right-of-way.

Bishop Walsh Released by China

HONG KONG (AP) — Red China released Roman Catholic Bishop James Edward Walsh today after nearly 12 years in Communist captivity. But the Chinese announced that another American prisoner, Hugh Francis Redmond of Yonkers, N.Y., committed suicide three months ago.

Border sources said the 79-year-old prelate from Cumberland, Md., "walked across the border bridge unaided and appeared in fair condition considering his age and the ordeal he has undergone."

A U.S. Consulate spokesman said Bishop Walsh was being given a medical examination and "we will not know his real condition until after that."

The spokesman said he doubted that the bishop would be made available to talk to reporters or be photographed "for some time."

He reportedly has been in a prison hospital in Shanghai most of the last eight years.

The bishop was arrested in October 1958. He was convicted in 1960 of espionage and sentenced to 20 years imprisonment.

Cattlemen to Meet Tuesday

The Hempstead County Cattlemen's Association will meet Tuesday night, July 14, at 8 p.m., at the Diamond Cafe.

James A. Clower, extension livestock marketing specialist, and Dr. Carl Lueker, extension animal husbandman, will present the program. Mr. Clower has recently joined the Agricultural Extension Service as marketing specialist and will briefly discuss beef cattle outlook. Dr. Lueker will show slides and give a report of the Arkansas Cattle Tour into East Texas. This tour included all types of cattle operations from backgrounding to finishing lots.

C. L. Roberts, president of the Hempstead County Cattlemen's association, urged all members to attend this meeting.

Japan Won't Take U.S. Role in SE Asia

By SPENCEK DAVIS

Associated Press Writer

TOKYO (AP) — The Japanese people would never permit Japan to take over the military role of the United States in Asia and the Pacific after American forces withdraw, Prime Minister Eisaku Sato says.

The Japanese leader sharply rejected the view of Philippine President Ferdinand Marcos and some other Asian leaders that Japan ultimately would have to assume major responsibility for law and order in eastern Asia.

"We may be able to possess military strength adequate for self-defense," he said in an interview. "But the Japanese people would never allow us to take over the role of the U.S."

"To avoid any misunderstandings such as entertained by President Marcos let me say: historically countries with economic might have great military power. In the case of Japan, we are resolved not to use the armed forces. That is what we proclaimed 25 years ago in the no-war constitution."

Sato said Japan's future policy would be to "extend cooperation commensurate with our strength for the prosperity of the countries of Asia."

"In extending such cooperation," he added, "a bilateral formula may cause misunderstandings that Japan seeks economic domination. So we prefer a formula in association with other countries in giving aid."

On relations with the United States, Sato said Japan must take a "courageous step toward liberalizing" its trade position.

"I don't think we can continue protectionism," he said.

"We shall never be ungrateful for the support the United States extended to us which enabled us to rehabilitate ourselves after World War II," he said. "But even close friends and loving couples have misunderstandings."

"Fortunately, U.S.-Japan relations will not be broken. We are good friends although it is regrettable that the textile negotiations failed. Our relations will not be spoiled or distorted by the passage of the Mills bill."

That legislation by Wilbur Mills, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, would impose quotas on woolen and synthetic textile imports at the 1967 levels for countries which do not agree to limit such shipments voluntarily.

Sato said he told Secretary of State William P. Rogers during the visit which ended today, "Although it is regrettable about textiles, the thread between the two countries has not been broken."

"He thought I said 'threat' and he looked surprised," the prime minister added.

The prime minister advised caution in the reduction of U.S. forces in Asia.

"Even if the United States wants to withdraw, will the situation permit it?" he asked. "That is one thing the U.S. should consider."

Iceland's Premier Dies in Home Fire

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP) — Iceland's premier, Bjarni Benediktsson, his wife and a grandson were killed in a fire at the premier's summer home Thursday night.

A priest living nearby discovered the fire in the wooden cottage at Ghingveille, 30 miles from Reykjavik. He raised the alarm, but when firemen reached the house, they found the three bodies.

The cottage was owned by the government and was used by members of the cabinet.

A former law professor and mayor of Reykjavik, Dr. Benediktsson was 62. He became chairman of the Independence party and premier in November 1963, when Premier Olafur Thors resigned because of his health. Benediktsson had been minister of justice and then foreign minister under Thors.
